

Dr. Miguel Such Martínez,
President of Málaga Health Foundation

“We are committed to be the best place in the world to regain your health”

Dr. Such Martínez, more than 2,500 heart operations and various research works in cardiology, especially in the field of aortic valve alterations (bicuspid and unicuspid) and aortic aneurysm. He belongs to the research team at the Biology College at Malaga University, to the Heart Unit at Malaga Clinic Hospital and International Xanit Hospital in Benalmádena. He collaborates with the Molecular Biology Centre at La Fe Hospital in Valencia and Saarland University Hospital in Hamburg. Dr. Miguel Such has integrated animal research works with patient surgery works especially in the areas of fibrillation and heart muscle distension. Dr. Such Martínez has created a new experimental model based on extra-corporeal circulation used to study serious heart arrhythmia. He is currently working on this at the Research Centre in La Fe Hospital which he founded.

Now, as the President of Málaga Health Foundation, he aims to show the world that Málaga has unbeatable possibilities to offer highest quality health services.

Millions of people travel abroad every year looking for health treatments they cannot find in their own countries. Although Málaga has based its economy on the service sector, it is still unknown as a health destination. This is the reason behind the foundation of Málaga Health; to promote our health services.

Health Tourism

Almost 80% of patients choose a destination in the Internet. Thus, our first objective was to create a web page that provides all the medical information offered by Medical Care Units as well as other complementary services that make us a unique tourist destination. This is what “health tourism” is about. In www.malagahealth.com “we have an exclusive tool, capable of relating any diseases to their possible treatments, doctors with credited experience, Health Clinics and even approximate (or exact) cost of these procedures. As well as, latest medical developments, courses, conferences and new medical approaches, all this permanently included in our web page.

Besides, the foundation offers communication services to all its members. They organize the diffusion of latest information related to curriculum, scientific publications, articles and reports in national and international media. The foundation is working on the web page www.malagahealth.com to include necessary medical contents supported by specialized doctors. We have created a “Specialized Medical Guide” where content excellence is our seal.

Another main objective of our project is to develop the structures to control and certify our quality of services. One of the most prestigious certifying companies, the German company TÜV has offered collaboration to create specific protocol for “Málaga Health Accreditation”. This is the only accreditation that includes clinic results. In addition, an ethical code Commission will attend any doubt or claim based on the services provided by this Foundation. Thus, the organization can select the best services and improve these to the highest standards.
